

Going Mad for March

A Woman's Touch of History

Aside from four-leaf clovers and thrilling basketball tournaments, March is known for another very important reason. March is Women's History Month. During the early years of our nation, women were not afforded the same rights as men including the right to vote. Under the leadership of Susan B. Anthony and many other women's rights pioneers, the suffrage movement began and overcame numerous milestones over the next century. In the year 1920, through the hard work of the National Woman's Party (NWP) and National American Woman's Suffrage Association (NAWSA), women were finally granted the right to vote under the 19th amendment. Fast forward to 1980, President Jimmy Carter had taken the initiative to declare March 2nd – 8th National Women's History Week. With great enthusiasm and popularity surrounding the week, many organizations including the Republican National Convention and Democratic National Convention have proclaimed March Women's History Month in honor of the ladies who have helped shape this country and its history. With that in mind, be sure to thank the special women in your life this month!
